Now more than ever, it is paramount that we protect our union, our ability to collectively bargain, and our collectively bargained contracts to ensure our viability not only as a union of professionals but also as an institution that effectively promotes the general welfare and economic self-sufficiency of the students we teach.

If elected SVFT Secretary, I will strive to protect our rights from any attempt to circumvent or completely disregard our collectively bargained agreements. I will also continually fight so that we are not only treated as professionals but are also afforded the right to work in an environment free from threats to our physical being and our employment, so we can focus on teaching, what we all do best.

I've worked in the Vo-Tech system for ten years as an English Instructor, and have also worked as a Union Representative while at Bristol and currently at Vinal Tech. In these ten years, without question, the majority of the good I have witnessed has come from the teachers, their dedication, and the work they do with students. If elected, I will work to protect your ability to do just that.

In Solidarity,

Eric Klotz
